Members Newsletter

At the Museum's first groundbreaking ceremony on May 18, 1967. The Wing Luke Asian Museum received its nonprofit status in 1966 and opened to the public in 1967.

Museum celebrates 40th Anniversary at the 2006 Dinner & Auction!

The Wing Luke Asian Museum will be celebrating its 40th Anniversary at the 2006 Annual Dinner & Auction on Sunday, March 12, 2006 at the Washington State Convention & Trade Center. An expected 800 guests will be in attendance to commemorate this significant event. The goal that evening is to raise $320,000 to support museum operations and valuable youth programs. We are looking forward to having the dynamic duo—Jim Jungers of Stokes Auction Group and noted thespian Kathy Hsieh— return as our auctioneer and reader for the night.

Those who have attended the Wing Luke dinner and auction in the past know that this is where one can find exquisite, original works of art by renowned Asian American artists such as MalPina Chan, Darlene Nguyen-Ely, Lee Sik Lim, Gerard Tsutakawa, Romson Bustillo, Roger Shimomura, and Mira Nakashima-Yarnall, to name a few. An original oil painting, watercolor, photograph or sculpture will bring such beauty to your home! Wouldn't you just love to go home with an original Marita Dingus or Rebecca Woodhouse, or a glass piece by Benjamin Moore, or a photograph by award-winning photographers like Barry Wong, Rick Wong, or Irene Kuniyuki?

This year's Auction Committee, co-chaired by Museum Board members, Mei-Ling Woo and Casey Bui, promises many other fabulous items will be featured as well, such as a spa getaway at Semiahmoo, a river rafting trip, and yes, Oprah tickets! You can raise your bid card for airline tickets on Southwest or Alaska Air, a private wine-tasting party for ten, a romantic stay at the Galleria Park Hotel in San Francisco, or how 'bout a high-rolling stay at the Kah Nee Ta High Desert Resort & Casino in Oregon!

If you would like a chance to have a fun evening and support the Wing Luke Asian Museum at the same time, please e-mail auction@wingluke.org or call (206) 623-5124 ext. 129 to receive an invitation to the Annual Dinner & Auction. Please also contact us if you are interested in sponsoring a table, donating an item or volunteering.

Welcome and Thank You

Our thanks and appreciation to Ray Ishii for his years of dedicated work first as a Museum Board member, and then as the Director of Finance and Business Development. Ray recently took a new position, moving one block away to the SCIDPDA, continuing his work in the community. Ray instituted many progressive changes in the Museum infrastructure, including a new accounting system and software and incorporating museum marketing into daily operations for the first time. We look forward to continue seeing him around the neighborhood!

Thank you also to departing staff member Tommer Peterson. Tommer returned to a new position at his former employer Grantsmakers in the Arts. He continues to keep us informed of the latest grants news from his perch at GIA. Tommer left a rich legacy from his extraordinary work on Museum staff, guiding us to several large multiyear grant awards. We also miss his renaissance skills as an artist, master chef of the tofu bunny, and dulcimer performer!

Welcome to our new Director of Fund Development Lena Park. Lena was Development Manager at Northwest Harvest. She grew up in Hawaii until moving to New York City to complete her Master of Divinity at Union Theological Seminary. We are fortunate to have her spirited and good-humored approach to coordinating our capital and operating grants.

We are pleased to introduce our new Finance Director Monica Day. Monica was vice-president for management reporting at KeyBank, where she worked for nine years. She is a Certified Public Accountant and a graduate of the Executive Development Institute (program of the Japanese American Chamber of Commerce). Monica's community activities include serving as treasurer for EDI and as vp for fundraising for the Newport Heights Elementary PTA.

Many Thanks to Our Dedicated Volunteers and Interns

Wing Luke Asian Museum Capital Campaign How You Keep A Story Going

Dean, Gloria, Lindsay, and Brady Lung Wakayama Donors preserving the legacy of our community stories

Gloria Lung-Wakayama has been active with the Museum for over twenty years. Currently Board Co-Chair and one of the Co-Chairs of the Capital Campaign, she and her husband Dean know the value of the project and how extraordinary it will be for our region and nation. They have pledged $100,000 to the campaign. Their gift is being made in honor of Gloria's parents, Herbert and Bertha Chinn Lung Tsuchiya.

"We care deeply about preserving the heritage and stories of those who came before us," said Gloria and Dean. "We want our children and future generations to know and understand the contributions of their ancestors and other Asian Americans in this country. Our support of this capital campaign is one small way in which we are leaving our legacy."

Dean and Gloria Lung Wakayama

"The success of this capital campaign depends upon the support and generosity of our entire community," reflected the Lung-Wakayamas. "This capital campaign affords all of us a tremendous opportunity to preserve and recognize the many and invaluable contributions of our ancestors. We hope that many others will seize this opportunity and support the campaign in whatever manner that they can."

The historic East Kong Yick building, Wing Luke Asian Museum's future home.

Campaign Progress- Moving Forward

We are very pleased with our success to date. The campaign has raised $15.9 million or 68% of our goal! The M.J. Murdock Charitable Trust recently awarded us with $500,000; the Seattle Foundation with $100,000; the South Downtown Foundation with $50,000; and the Weyerhaeuser Company Foundation with $25,000. All of these gifts have affirmed the importance of this effort and the incredible vision behind the Museum expansion. This means we're inching closer to our more "public" phase of the campaign-- the community campaign. We will need many more of you to be involved as volunteers. Together, we have laid an important foundation that will prepare us to launch the community campaign in June 2006 and work to finish it at the end of 2007!

Blessing Ceremony- A Legacy Changing Hands

Nearly 600 people joined us to pay honor to the many residents who made their lives in the East Kong Yick Building in Seattle's historic Chinatown. The sun broke through the clouds after a rainy morning and allowed for a moving event to with a celebration of song, dance and spoken word from groups around the Northwest.

Tsunami Taiko (seen on right) opened up the event with powerful drumming along with other meaningful blessings for our new Museum project.

Questions? Please feel free to contact Joy Shigaki at (206) 623-5124 ext. 110 or jshigaki@wingluke.org.

Sikh Community: Over 100 Years in the Pacific Northwest

Main Exhibition Gallery

Now on view through Sunday, April 16, 2006

Although Sikhs have been living in the United States and Canada for over a century, the general public understands little about the Sikh faith and the community's long-standing roots in the Pacific Northwest. The first Sikh immigrants arrived in this region in the late 1800s, working in lumber mills and constructing railroads. Immigrants arriving since the 1960s have been professionals, businesspeople, and entrepreneurs. Despite their rich contributions to this region, Sikhs have been the targets of racism and discrimination, especially amplified in the United States since the tragic events of September 11, 2001.

The Sikh Community exhibition features historic and educational materials, artifacts, photographs, oral history collections, public programs and multimedia of the Sikh community in the Pacific Northwest. This exhibit seeks to educate the community about the Sikh faith and the history and heritage of the Sikh community in the Northwest.

This exhibition is made possible by support from: Sponsors: Institute of Museum and Library Services, Office for Arts and Culture, City of Seattle, US Bank, The Peach Foundation. Community Partner: The Sikh Coalition.

Home Grown: Asian Pacific American New Years

Gallery of Contemporary Arts and Issues

Now on view through Sunday, April 2, 2006

Asian immigrants settling in the Pacific Northwest bring with them many holidays from their homelands. One of the most important celebrations is connected with the New Year.

Here in America, Asian Pacific Americans pass along their traditions to their children. Families celebrate in their homes or gather with others in their communities. Today, many Asian Pacific American communities hold large festivals with traditional song and dance performances, parades and other festivities. Much like St. Patrick's Day, the New Year has become an American holiday that people from all backgrounds celebrate.

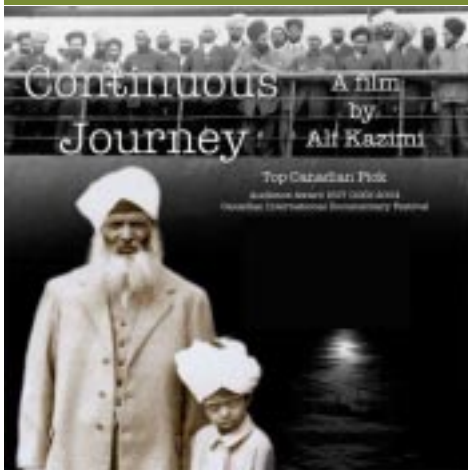

While many New Year traditions have changed to accommodate new surroundings in America, their essence still remains. Family, friends and communities join together around food, music, dancing and games to usher out the old year and welcome in the new.

The New Year's exhibition at the Wing Luke Asian Museum features photographs, artifacts, multimedia presentation, oral history collections and fun educational materials on this special family celebration.

Sponsored by: Americans for the Arts, ArtsFund, 4Culture, Boeing Company, Marguerite Casey Foundation, Washington State Arts Commission.

Film Screening of Continuous Journey

Wednesday, January 25, 2006

7 pm

Theatre Off Jackson, 409 7th Avenue S, Seattle

Free. Donations are welcomed.

Continuous Journey is a documentary from filmmaker Ali Kazimi about the Komagata Maru, a ship carrying 376 Sikh immigrants from British India which was turned away by Canada in 1914. The consequences were felt throughout the British Empire. This film is a compelling and eye-opening investigation into the past and present ramifications of this incident. Continuous Journey is a provocative, moving and multi-layered essay that interweaves photographs, newsreels, home movies and official documents to unravel a complex and little-known story. (English & Punjabi with English Subtitles, 2004) This program was made possible with funding provided by the Sikh Community: Over 100 Years in the Pacific Northwest exhibition. Co-sponsored by the Northwest Asian American Film Festival and Tasveer.

3rd Annual Northwest Asian American Film Festival (NWA AFF)

Presented by the Northwest Asian American Theatre

January 26-29, 2006

Theater Off Jackson, 409 7th Avenue S, Seattle

Ticket prices vary

Get ready for the 3rd annual Northwest Asian American Film Festival coming this month! The film festival kicks-off with a party and screening of The Grace Lee Project, a documentary look at the cultural connotation of the name Grace Lee, the equivalent of Asian America's Jane Smith. All Grace Lees get in free. The Wing Luke Asian Museum's 2001 documentary If These Tired Hands Could Talk screens Sunday, January 29th at 1pm. It will be presented with Grassroots Rising, another documentary about Asian American labor. NWA AFF will close the 3-day film festival with Sorceress of the New Piano, a documentary about modern music, toy piano virtuoso Margaret Leng Tan. Margaret will also make a rare Seattle appearance and perform as part of the closing night presentation.

Location for the closing night event is to be determined. Please check www.nwaaff.org, the Northwest Asian American Film Festival website, for the full schedule and ticket information. For questions, email pr@nwaaff.org.
