

WING LUKE MUSEUM

Joël Barraquiel Tan
Executive Director
Wing Luke Museum

Joël Barraquiel Tan is the executive director of the Wing Luke Museum, a community-focused Asian, Native Hawaiian and Pacific Islander museum in Seattle dedicated to arts, culture, heritage and preservation. An executive with 30 years of leadership experience, Barraquiel Tan is responsible for leading the Wing Luke Museum through its growth and expansion. A passionate cultural entrepreneur and artist with a proven track record of success, he brings experience in community building, innovating new programming and promoting arts engagement to his role.

Barraquiel Tan earned a BA from the University of California, Berkley, an MFA from Antioch University and an MFT from Northcentral University.

Affiliated with the Smithsonian Institute and the National Parks Service, the Wing Luke Museum is the only pan-Asian and Pacific Islander Museum in the country that promotes inspired action through authentic storytelling and community co-created exhibitions, tours, public programs, retail, advocacy, media, and a wide array of educational programs.
