2019-2020
Greetings from the Marketplace at the Wing Luke Museum

Purchases from the Marketplace help continue the Wing Luke Museum’s mission to advance racial and social equity. How? Our merchandising team and staff of the Wing Luke Museum are constantly looking for artists of color, crafters, artists and entrepreneurs of the Pacific Northwest. We provide a niche space where Asian Pacific Islander Americans showcase their genius whether through science fiction novels, biographies, jewelry made from antique pieces, paintings, laser-cut artwork, and much, much more. We are the unique destination to support the artistic work of local APIA artists and authors, female artists of color, refugee and immigrant artisans, and language education initiatives.

This holiday season, we’re sure you’ll find unique gifts for your family and friends here at the Wing Luke Museum’s Marketplace. Thank you so much for your continued support, and we wish you the happiest of holidays.

The Museum Team

JEWELRY

A TEA LEAF JEWELRY
We’ve got new arrivals from A Tea Leaf! These versatile, laser-cut designs sparkle and shine. Perfect for the holidays! $30 - $45

MAGWAYEN JEWELRY Magwayen is named for the powerful Filipino goddess of the sea. Shelby Cramer’s jewelry designs are inspired by her heritage, jemstone folklore, and nature. Her bohemian earrings and rings are handmade right here in Seattle. $45 - $140

Call to place your order. Or, items can be placed on hold until the end of the next business day.
KIMONO REVIVIFY The Marketplace at the Wing is excited to feature a new, local artist! Kimono Revivify was born out of Akino McCune’s love of vintage kimonos. This Seattle jewelry designer juxtaposes fabric textures with contemporary brass, ceramic, or tassel details. Freshen up your fancy dress look and spark a conversation about kimono traditions. Bonus: each unique set of earrings includes a hand-written thank-you note! $14 - $24

ROVER & KIN Wherever you travel, Rover & Kin earrings will add a dash of whimsy and sophistication. Wen founded this network of fairtrade artisans in India out of a sense of wanderlust. The jewelry designers pair organic materials like coconut and mother-of-pearl with polished brass and bright clay. $20 - $28

NEVER AGAIN IS NOW

NEVER AGAIN IS NOW STICKERS These stickers were created by local artist and social activist, Erin Shigaki. These stickers is a reminder to us all that Never Again is Now. We must remember the history that was - and may it not be repeated. Proceeds from these stickers go towards the Minidoka Project. $25

ERIN SHIGAKI Erin Shigaki was born and raised in Seattle and is a proud product of public schools. Erin is passionate about highlighting similarities between that history and today’s immigrant crisis, and to other systematic injustices black and brown people continue to face. She is keen to understand intergenerational trauma and to explore the emergence of beauty and intimacy despite unspeakably harsh circumstances. Erin believes that using art to tell stories about these moments can educate, redress wrongs, and incrementally heal. Pictured here is her work in partnership with Densho to create an 11’ tall wheat paste mural.

A NEW WAY TO GIVE, AN OPPORTUNITY FOR ADVANCING EQUITY

Our mission is built on fostering social equity in our communities by increasing access to the stories we share here at The Wing. This is why we’ve decided to launch a new Community Member Sponsorship program to provide membership opportunities to those who experience cost as a barrier. Enjoy the benefits of membership and give back to the community at the same time!

Purchasing members will receive a traditional Friends Level membership for themselves to enjoy a full year of benefits. Simultaneously, an additional Friends Level membership will be gifted to community partners and organizations (including local family businesses, community centers, and schools) on our “Community Member Sponsorship” list, providing them access to the museum with full member benefits for an entire year.

For more information on the program benefits, visit our website at www.wingluke.org/membership
