Greetings from the Marketplace at Wing Luke Museum

Our museum, along with the rest of Chinatown-International District, have felt the immense impact of the COVID-19 pandemic over the past few months. We are grateful to have such a strong community with which to stand. The Wing is strongly committed to its mission to advance racial and social equity, especially during these turbulent times. People and businesses across our already vulnerable neighborhood have experienced xenophobia, racism, and severe loss. Your support of our museum and Marketplace is a stand against it.

By purchasing items from our Marketplace, you are supporting APA and POC local artists, crafters, authors, and entrepreneurs of all backgrounds. Marketplace is about 460 square feet of activated areas used for both stocking (displaying) and storage. There are 33,300+ items distributed across 15 active departments and 78 categories. We also have active relationships with 55 local artists in the Pacific Northwest and West Coast areas, carrying their handmade merchandise on consignment terms.

We provide a niche space where Asian Pacific Americans showcase their genius whether through activist children’s books, biographies, recycled jewelry made from kimonos, dozens of greeting cards, and much, much more. Come celebrate API Heritage Month by exploring our wonderful books and art, or come in to look for Mothers’, Father’s, or Children’s Day gifts and cards for your loved ones.

Spring brings new beginnings, welcoming colors and vitality into our community despite Seattle’s gray skies. We hope this season brings brighter days for all of us.

The Museum Team

HEAR US RISE

HEARTBEAT OF STRUGGLE
Yuri Kochiyama remains one of the most well-known Asian American activists to emerge from the civil rights era. After being incarcerated during WWII, she spent decades of her life fighting social injustices. Heartbeat of Struggle is the first biography to have been written about Kochiyama, detailing her life and work in Black liberation, protesting the Vietnam War, Asian American activism, political prisoner defense, and more. $21.50

CHA-PANI PINS
Looking for a fun way to share your Indian heritage and love for Southeast Asian cultures while also educating folks on common misconceptions? Cha-Pani makes it possible with her collection of stylish enamel pins! From the chai “tea latte” myth to incorrect pronunciations of namaste, these pins are sure to make you smile. $12.00

MULAN: THE LEGEND OF THE WOMAN WARRIOR
The classic Chinese legend is retold in this stunningly illustrated book. Translated from Chinese, this book shares the story of Mulan, the iconic and courageous heroine we all know and love. Pick up a copy signed by the illustrator, Joy Ang! $17.99

FEMINISM AND NATIONALISM IN THE THIRD WORLD
Feminism and Nationalism in the Third World details women’s movements in Asia and the Middle East in the late 19th and 20th century. It shares the often unexplored historical narratives of early feminist writings, organizing, and women’s struggles, both before and during national liberation movements. This book urges readers to understand their own relationships to feminism within post-colonial societies, and how continued movements for equity and social and economic change are all bound together. $23.95

LIVING FOR CHANGE
Grace Lee Boggs’ autobiography details her life journey in creating radical change. An Asian American icon and legendary human rights activist and philosopher, she shares her experiences from the 1930s on. The memoir weaves practice and theory through multiple social movements, and tells of her relationships with activists such as Malcolm X. In this book she asks us: “What kind of transformations do we need in our values, institutions, and behavior to reconnect us with the rhythms and processes of nature?” $19.95

INTERSECTIONAL PIN FROM WORD BY WORD FACTORY
This gold detailed, cross-word inspired 2.25” x 1” pin would be a great accessory for any bag or jacket. It is made by Word For Word Factory, a queer, feminist-run print and accessories brand. $12.00

FEMALES
Females is an exploration of what the concept of female gender represents in our society, from the perspective of firebrand second-wave trans studies author Andrea Long Chu. How is “femaleness” coded, and how does that coding affect our perception and self-perception? Or as Andrea Long Chu puts it herself, “Everyone is female, and everyone hates it.” $12.95

SEEING GENDER
An up-to-the-minute deep dive into a timeless and universal topic, queer artist and author Iris Gottlieb’s illustrated guide breaks down the history, science, and sociology of gender identity and gender expression. Each concept is presented in its own illustrated spread, making this an excellent reference and guidebook for anyone who needs to express themselves in a gendered society. Which is, as the author points out, everyone! $27.50

Guilty Party
When Ho’onani auditions for a school performance of a traditional Kane hula chant, she wants to be part of it- but will others accept a girl leading an all-male troupe? Based on a true story and inspired by the documentary A Place in the Middle, Ho’onani: Hula Warrior tells the story Ho’onani, who doesn’t see herself as wahine (girl) OR Kane (boy), but as “just Ho’onani.” A charming, beautifully illustrated depiction of the Hawaiian tradition of valuing those who are māhū (nonbinary.) $17.99

REFUGEES & IMMIGRATION

BUTTERFLY YELLOW
From the author of Inside Out and Back Again, Butterfly Yellow is the story of two siblings separated during the final days of the Việt Nam War. Hằng stayed behind in Việt Nam for six years before moving to the US as a refugee while her younger brother, Linh, grew up in America. How will Hằng reconnect with her brother and navigate her new home in the Lone Star State? $17.99

THE CAMBODIAN DANCER
The Cambodian Dancer paints a story of loss and hope. In this true story, Sophany has to flee the Khmer Rouge and head to America where she feels lost without her traditional Cambodian dancing. So she starts a school to teach the next generation of dancers! Printed with the Khmer text in the back of the book. $17.99

DEAR AMERICA
Pulitzer-Prize winning journalist Jose Antonio Vargas, called “the most famous undocumented immigrant in America,” writes a deeply personal memoir about his first 25 years of living as an undocumented immigrant in the United States. Vargas, after discovering that as a child he had not immigrated legally, works hard to find a sense of home in a land that does not want him. Available in paperback for adults and as a hardcover Young Readers’ Edition book for grades 3-7. $15.99-$16.99

LAWRENCE & ARGYLE PINS
Jenn Ho created Lawrence & Argyle “to honor my peers and their families who have been through similar circumstances, as well as the people who are still trying to find a home in our country. This is not a perfect place, but I believe that we can make room for any person seeking the best opportunities for themselves and their loved ones.” These pins commemorate the diverse backgrounds we Americans have. $13.00

BRUCE LEE

THE BRUCE LEE WAY
For Bruce Lee fans interested in delving deeper into the martial arts master’s personal philosophy, we recommend this introduction by Tim Baker, editor of The Official Bruce Lee Magazine. He presents a painstakingly curated collection of primary sources and ephemera from Bruce Lee’s own life and writings. Includes a forward by Shannon Lee. $15.99

BE WATER, MY FRIEND
Brought to you by the author-illustrator team Ken Mochizuki and Dom Lee, who created Passage to Freedom and Baseball Saved Us, this beautifully illustrated picture-book biography tells the story of Bruce Lee’s boyhood growing up in Hong Kong in the 1940s and 1950s. An encouraging and inspiring choice to share with young readers Grade 3-4. $29.95

BOOKS

SO YOU WANT TO TALK ABOUT RACE
Local writer, speaker, and organizer Ijeoma Oluo deftly walks the reader through best practices for navigating some common conversations about race, “Why can’t I say the “N” word?” and “Why can’t I touch your hair?” to “Is police brutality really about race?” and “What is the school-to-prison pipeline?” She shows readers how to talk about how racism is fundamentally woven into the foundation of our society, and how that foundation continues to permeate every aspect of our daily lives. $16.99

EUNI + CO. CARDS
New vendor Euni + Co. was created by Seattle-based calligrapher and designer Clara Kim. We love her minimalist and elegant but sweet stationery designs. It’s no wonder that she makes custom wedding invitation designs as part of her business! Tell someone “Sarang hae” (“I love you”) with her finger hearts enamel pin (page #) and the matching card. $5.99

NEVER AGAIN IS NOW STICKER
Seventy-eight years ago, Japanese Americans were subjected to family separation and detention. We swore we would never again let this happen to any other group. Yet today we watch as immigrant children and families are being separated and detained and civil liberties are being revoked. This sticker commemorates what has happened and is a reminder for us to be vigilant in the present by remembering the past. $3.99

There’s still time to visit A Dragon Is Here
Part 4 of our Bruce Lee exhibit series! It closes on September 6th.
ALMOST AMERICAN GIRL
Robin Ha, artist/author of Cook Korean, is back with an illustrated memoir of her awkward adolescent years, her abrupt immigration to America, and how in the midst of confusion and isolation she found comfort through comics and her voice through art. $22.95

WE LIVED HERE
Through 19 interviews with Central District residents, artist, educator, and self-taught ethnographer Madeline Crowley tells the story of those who struggled through the activist 60s building a thriving neighborhood community, only to see it uprooted through rapid gentrification. A must read for those who enjoyed our exhibit Excluded: Inside the Lines, and for those looking forward to our Redlining Trail Tour in April! $17.95

THIS BOOK IS ANTI-RACIST
Tiffany Jewell introduces the concepts of social identity, race, ethnicity, and racism in clear, easy-to-understand language and gender-neutral words that unpack and present these difficult topics in a relateable, accessible way for all ages. She includes exercise prompts to spark introspection and help uproot bias, and empower the reader to actively defy racism in their own daily lives. $14.99
